Tottering Genius

THE CHIEF slammed a heavy fist down on his desk. "Plastic Man, The Genius gets out of jail today, and he's sure to return to his old criminal ways."

"I'll watch for him at the prison gates and stay close, but out of sight, just to see what he's up to," Plastic Man promised.

At two that afternoon the prison gates opened and the little high-domed figure of The Genius bounced out.

Presently a car drove by and The Genius hopped in beside two big-chinned thugs, members of his former gang. Plastic Man, disguised as a red spare tire on the back, went along.

Later, in his room at a swank hotel, The Genius grinned to himself. "Those idiots of the FBI," he sneered aloud. "Let them tail me and watch me. I've got more brains in my little finger than that dope, Plastic Man, has in his whole wiggly body."

But Plastic Man, now disguised as a throw rug on the hotel room floor, only grinned to himself.

There was a knock at the door. It was one of the thugs. "Boss, we got a present for you. Bring him in, Shakey."

The other dragged in the bound and gagged figure of Woozy Winks. "We found Plastic Man's fat stooge pussyfooting around outside."

"Lock him in the closet and get out," The Genius shrilled. "I've gotta start planning our next job."

The bound and helpless Woozy was shoved into a closet. Plas, sliding in under the door, hissed Woozy to silence and curled up beside him, chuckling. After a few minutes The Genius opened the closet door to check on his quarry. He screamed at the sight of two Woozy Winks, side by side, identical in appearance. His screech brought the thugs running back from down the hall.

But when they peered in, Plastic Man had vanished into a crack and the real Woozy lay helpless by himself. The biggest thug, Maxie, eyed The Genius with narrowed eyes. "If I was you, Boss, I'd go somewhere for a nice, long rest. That hitch in the pen can knock a guy with your brain for a loop, sort of."

When the gang had gone down to their room, at the other end of the hall, The Genius threw himself on the bed.

The bed, with its bright red coverlet, swayed gently . . . and then abruptly it tossed The Genius to the floor with a convulsive heave. He bounced up, half angry, half frightened. The bed sat quietly, and no amount of examination revealed anything wrong.

He whirled and snatched the telephone, which now seemed as red as the coverlet had been a moment ago. A voice whispered, "Your number, please?" The Genius shouted, "Get me room thirty."

The telephone squirmed in his hands and abruptly slammed him in the eye. He jumped up, shaking, terrified.

The Genius sat down cautiously on a chair and held his head. Something terrible had happened to him. Those months in prison must have made him stir-crazy. He was seeing things that couldn't exist. If his mob got wind of this, he would be all washed up as a leader of crime. They would lose their respect for him.

"I've got to do something," The Genius moaned. "I'll call them and outline my new crime scheme. That will show them I'm no dope."

This time nothing disturbed his call. In a moment the gang filed in, eyeing their gray-faced leader warily. Looking carefully around, The Genius tried to recover his old habit of command.

"I've got a sure-fire scheme for robbing the Wirst National Bank," he barked. "It's simple for a mighty brain like mine."

"Yeah?" snapped Maxie. "And how about Plastic Man? He put you behind bars once. Let's hear about what you plan to do with him."

"That's simple," The Genius said. "We'll simply use Woozy Winks as hostage. If Plastic Man interferes, he'll get his pal back in little pieces."

"Okay, Boss," Maxie said, "but you better hit the hay for now."

Maxie started to leave and reached for the knob of the red door. The red door suddenly folded into a solid, terrifying figure and a massive fist grew out of the doorknob to slug Maxie head over heels.

"Game's over, boys," Plastic Man said cheerily. "Shall we fight here or go down to the station peacefully and admit an assortment of crimes, including murder and robbery?"

His fist slammed out again and again and thugs bounded off the walls like basketballs. The closet door burst open and Woozy Winks, wild-eyed and still draped with the ropes Plas had managed to loosen, burst into the room. The Genius was trying to flee out a window. Woozy hauled the frightened figure back and his own fist slammed The Genius across the room.

"That'll do, Woozy," Plastic Man said, his arm encircling the limp figures. "In his condition of terror, slugging The Genius any more would be sheer cruelty to helpless creatures. Let's take them to the Chief."

"Sure thing," said Woozy proudly. "We really did a good job in capturing the gang, Plas. What would you ever do without me?"
